

Aabsolute anchors + mutation effects*B*C

contact persistence = retained native contacts
400 K trajectory, final 30 ns average

D

FEP labels encode mutation effects that are close to stability perturbations.

MD contact persistence summarizes structural dynamics; it did not improve final Tm prediction here.

Take-home: useful simulation labels must carry information relevant to Tm generalization.