

Aabsolute anchors + mutation effects

why mutation free-energy labels transfer

BC

contact persistence = retained native contacts 400 K trajectory, final 30 ns average

D

Mutation free-energy labels encode local stability changes that are close to the target phenotype.

MD contact persistence summarizes structural dynamics; it did not improve final Tm prediction here.

Take-home: useful simulation labels must carry information relevant to Tm generalization.